 - (b) by paying or tendering attendance money calculated in accordance with Tariff A at the same time.

EVIDENCE ADMISSIBLE ONLY WITH LEAVE

- 53.08 (1) If evidence is admissible only with leave of the trial judge under a provision listed in subrule (2), leave

Gross Up

 - (a) assume that the entire award will be invested in fixed income securities; and

$$g = \frac{(1 + i) - 1}{(1+d)}$$

where "g" is the rate to be assumed for future inflation;

"i" is the average yield on Government of Canada marketable bonds for durations of over ten years, as published in the edition of the Bank of Canada Weekly Financial Statistics appearing on or not more than six days before the date that the trial commenced, rounded to the nearest half of one per cent; and

"d" is the discount rate specified in subrule (1).

Waite v. Waite, 2021 PESC 12

The author of an assessment ordered under the Children's Law Act is not an expert witness unless such a determination is made pursuant to Rule 53.

DCP v. C.P. & T.P., 2014 PECA 18

The court confirmed the trial judge's finding that the expert's evidence was relevant and had probative value. The court also confirmed that hearsay in an expert report is admissible to show the information upon which the expert bases his opinion but not for the proof of the contents.

MacWilliams v. Connors, 2014 PESC 12

The court stated it would be fundamentally wrong to allow an expert witness on one side of the case to decide or have a role in deciding, whether another expert witness would be allowed to testify on the other side of the case.

MacWilliams v. Connors, 2017 PESC 2

The court stated that experts may be disqualified or their evidence may be given less weight if they are found to be biased but it was not shown in the case.

Lewis v. Lewis, 2017 PECA 11

The Court found the hearing process was unfair as the motions judge denied one party the opportunity to present her financial case. Relying on White Burgess Langille Inman v. Abbott and Haliburton Co., 2015 SCC 23, the court stated for an expert opinion to be inadmissible, more than a simple appearance of bias is necessary and that the mother was entitled to have her accountant appear under oath and speak to his accounting report.
